FOREWORD

1961 has been a turbulent one in the outside world. The new Republic was proclaimed—an election was contested—news of disasters—wars and rebellions have flooded in. Through all this Herschel has gone quietly on, staff and girls trying to give of their best and now once more we present our report on the year's activities for that is what our magazine really is—a report—or we might call it a show window to the outside world. Then too, for the Old Girls it is a reminder of happy days and for all of us interested in the welfare of the school it is a lasting record.

The news of Miss McLean's impending retirement came as a shock to us all. We shall indeed miss her. Those of us who have worked under her able direction for a number of years are appreciative of many things. Perhaps the most encouraging has been her openness to new ideas. This has brought an atmosphere of change and vitality to the school and has given to each term an interest that has been most stimulating.

In bidding Miss McLean good-bye we would wish her a happy future—one that is more restful than life at Herschel ever could be and yet full of purpose and satisfaction.

To Mrs. Kittow, Miss McLean's successor, we offer a warm welcome and we look forward to her contribution to the next edition of the Herschelian.

Most of the usual Inter-House competitions were held this year and they are reported here but special mention must be made of a new venture in this side of the school life—an Inter-House Magazine Competition. It proved a great success and three most interesting and attractive magazines were produced. The best articles appear here and we are only sorry that we are unable to reproduce the many fine illustrations. Miss Lucy Bean, of the Cape Argus, kindly consented to judge them. She awarded first place to Merriman saying that the subject matter was good and varied, many articles being of topical interest and the illustrations witty and amusing. Second place was given to Jagger mainly because of its excellent presentation and good illustrations. Rolt was a close third with some good features especially the one on fashions.

It is hoped that everyone will make a point of reading the very interesting account of the Sociological Society as it gives a picture of the wide interest in the outside world which we try to engender in the school.

With the coming of a new Headmistress the school enters upon a new era. No matter how happy things have been change is always healthy and we go forward into 1962 with gratitude for the years that have gone and a sense of hopeful anticipation for those that are yet to come.

STAFF NEWS

We would like to extend a very cordial welcome to:

Mrs. Abbott, as Matron at The Hill.

Miss Bosomworth, who returned for this year for Geography and English.

Mrs. Esterhuysen, for Middle School Afrikaans.

Mrs. Miller, as Second House-Mistress in School.

Miss Norgarb, for Singing and Music during this year.

Miss Oliver, on her return from England for Senior Mathematics.

Mrs. van der Merwe, who took Mrs. Lamsley's place in the House in June.

Miss Wetton, for Physical Training at the Hill and Games throughout.

We are sorry to say goodbye to:

Miss Bosomworth, now to be married and going to live in Rhodesia; Mrs. Miller, who feels she must return to her family; Sybil Norgarb, who is going to England for a spell; Mrs. van der Merwe, after so short a stay; Mrs. Viney, who has been responsible for Senior Geography for 3 years; Miss Wesemann, who leaves for Johannesburg in the New Year and Mrs. Williams, who has been Upper I Form Mistress for 3 years and who is now joining the Staff at Monterey, to them all we extend our very good wishes and our thanks.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS STAFFORD

Miss Stafford who trained as a nurse in England came to South Africa to nurse lepers on Robben Island. Later she joined the staff of St. Cyprian's, Cape Town, and D.S.G. Grahamstown.

When Herschel started in 1922 she came to be the first House Mistress Matron, with her great friend, Miss Ralph as Headmistress. They both gave the school a great start in their respective spheres, leaving in 1932.

During Miss Stafford's years at Herschel she was a tower of strength and comfort to many of the very small girls who were far from home for the first time. With her kind though common-sense approach she helped many to find their feet in a strange new life and she will be remembered with a wealth of affection by all who were under her care. She died at St. Newlyn, East Cornwall, on Sunday, 9th July, 1961.

ENID FINCH

Those of us who were among the first pupils of Herschel, nearly forty years ago, will recall with pleasure our association with Enid Harsant who was Head Girl of the School.

She had a forceful personality and a happy, understanding disposition which brought her the loyalty and friendship of her colleagues.

Her more recent association with Herschel was as a parent when she and Canon Finch were at Salisbury Cathedral in Rhodesia; at this time her daughter Jill was at Herschel and in 1960 was vice-Head of the School.

After Jill left School, Canon and Mrs. Finch moved to England, but if at any time Enid was in Cape Town one was certain to see her either at St. Saviour's Church or at Herschel itself.

All members of Herschel will pay tribute to girls such as Enid who helped to establish the fine traditions of which the School is justifiably proud.

FOUNDER'S DAY, 1961

Founder's Day each year follows the same pattern yet with it, each time, there is a freshness and a sense of new beginning. Perhaps that lies in the fact that the year is yet young and we are looking forward to the many tasks ahead.

The solemnity of the occasion was emphasised by His Grace the Archbishop, right at the beginning of his sermon when he pointed out how momentous a time we are living in our National History. It was for this reason, he said, that the lesson was read from the 1st Chapter of Joshua for that story occurred at a time of great change for the children of Israel. After forty years of Moses they were left leaderless. It was the end of a chapter. They were stricken and despairing. Then the word of the Lord came to Joshua—one who had been close to Moses and knew the burden he carried. God's command was to arise and go over the river Jordan with his people. This was not a time to bemoan their loss. "Just so it is now the time for you to play your part in the building up of your people. The call is to you who are young and vigorous enough to make something of the future. The country needs a new order of leadership—a new zeal".

That the situation might be fraught with danger and difficulties was a challenge. His Grace pointed out, as he reminded us of men like Roosevelt and Job who overcame their handicaps and troubles. "The greatness of the difficulties and the nature of the challenge determines what kind of people we are", he said.

"There are three ways of responding to the troubles in our country—you can resent it and grow sour and bitter or be resigned to it and let it be, or redeem it as Jesus did when He took the Cross and fashioned it into a throne from which to redeem the world. You have a responsibility to the whole of South Africa. You are the leaders. God said there was only one way forward for Joshua, the way of obedience. Disobedience lands us in disaster. Be courageous, accept the will of God at all times living to His glory. The whole point of Founder's Day is to re-dedicate ourselves only so will we win through to victory."

* * * *

This year the prizes at the Preparatory School were presented by Mrs. Bryant, who is a mother and was at Herschel many years ago.

At the Senior School we were honoured to have our Mayor, Mrs. Newton Thompson with us to give away the prizes and talk to us. The Archbishop in his introduction said how local self government is the life blood of liberty and how the mayor, Mrs. Newton Thompson, had certainly shown us the value of this. He then called on Miss McLean to present her report.

Mrs. Newton Thompson, Your Grace, Ladies and Gentlemen, on behalf of Herschel I welcome you here to-day.

We are indeed grateful to the Mayor for being our guest of honour this afternoon to distribute the prizes and to speak to us, knowing how busy and occupied is each day for her.

Mrs. Newton Thompson, we extend a very warm welcome to you and look forward with interest to what you have to say to us.

My report this year, is I think only factual, but it was with sadness that we heard of Mrs. Gatonby's illness in February of last year—and her death in June was a tremendous loss to us all. Her alert mind and quick summing up of a situation, be it financial or School life, was so valuable especially to those of us who worked in close contact with her and realised her meticulous attention to detail, her aliveness and sense of humour are missed each day.

On my return I heard of the sudden death of Miss Taylor early in January. She was a member of the Staff here from 1930 to 1955 and there must be many Old Girls and Parents who remember her and will be sad but who must too be glad that it happened while she was at tea with a friend, so that she was spared loneliness and pain.

Too late for my report last year came the news of the award of The Bartle Frere Exhibition on the 1959 Matriculation results. This Exhibition is given for the highest mark in History, throughout the Union and was won by Elisabeth Robb. I am sure you will join in congratulating Miss Mulliner and Mrs. Hampson, with Elisabeth, on this good result.

Then too I mentioned that 4 of the 1959 leavers had entered for the American Field Scholarships; all 4 were awarded these Scholarships and Ann Rough and Rosemary Hellings are now in America, and by letters which I have from Ann, enjoying it very much. Of the other two, the awards came too late, Judy Norton had already arranged to go to France and Sheana Hollingdale to work for entrance to St. Andrews' University in Scotland, where she has already passed English and Latin at A level, a very creditable performance in the short time and very re-assuring to those of us who sometimes question the standard of work here.

Last year of the 19 who entered for the School Leaving Certificate all passed; 1 in the first class, 14 in the second, 4 in the third, and 12 with exemption from Matriculation.

I have been asked several times lately what I mean, or is meant by School Leaving Certificate and Exemption from Matriculation—the word Matriculation rightly means 'entrance to University' but I think that this has been lost sight of by common usage. The School Leaving Certificate Examination is written by every one here and in most Independent Schools throughout the Union, while the Senior Certificate Examination is written by Schools under the School Boards of the various Provinces and on both of these exemption from Matriculation (or entrance to University) may be granted. To obtain the School Leaving Certificate, the requirements are 800 marks as a total with a pass in 5 subjects which must include the home language, another language and a Science, a pass is as low as 33%; then for exemption from Matriculation—the total must now be 1,000 with passes at 40% in 4 subjects to include the home language, another language, a Science, and a third language or Mathematics.

The Matriculation Board is gradually increasing the standard for this exemption—and it adjudicates for both the School Leaving and Senior Certificate—thus the increase from 800 to 1,000 marks and the compulsory questions in languages.

All this sounds very involved I am afraid even though I have given but a brief paraphrase of the written regulations but it does all point to the Universities realising the need for something more than the present admission of Matriculated students, who should be having a year at school learning how to work more independently in the subjects they intend following at the University. I am still firmly in favour of writing a School Certificate (not a School Leaving Certificate) in Lower V, with a year or more after for either University entrance or some Course to fit girls to be good citizens in later life.

Of other results this year we have 17 Junior Red Cross Certificates in Home Nursing; 24 Bronze Awards and 5 Silver Awards from the Royal Life Saving Society; 21 Certificates from the Royal Schools of Music, 7 with Merit and in the Theory 2 with full marks.

Five girls entered this year for the American Field Scholarships, 4 had their papers sent forward from the Province to Johannesburg and 3 of these papers have now been sent forward to America and we hope that these three, Fiona Noble, Hilary Simpson and Sally Baxter may finally be successful. If they are they will spend a year with an American family of similar environment to their own, attending the local High Schools for a post Matriculation year's study and in the holidays will be taken touring in America. The Universities here have now recognised these Scholarships and will allow credit for the six months before leaving and the six months after returning to count a first year for University, which is very encouraging to all.

Among Old Girls in 1960—Rosemary Robb has her Degree in Social Science, Jean Ratcliffe in Arts, Sybil Norgarb her Teachers' Licentiate Diploma, Rosemary Hollingdale a Diploma in Physiotherapy at Edinburgh and Juliet van Winsen Physiotherapy at Cape Town.

On the games field we have held our own extremely well, perhaps with no outstanding achievement in any one game, but the general all round high standard is to me far more valuable. 1960 was an experimental year in working through the Houses, we used the House Mistresses very much more and you will have seen that they reported on the girls at the end of the year; the Heads of the three Houses were in Office and effectively so, instead of as previously, one—the Head Girl carrying all the responsibility. Both methods have proved their value and been successful, but I know there has often been the criticism that the Head Girl had no time in which to work for a First Class pass in her examination and while it was not the time factor which made the result and in fact was proved otherwise in 1959, with the increasing demands by the University and other bodies I do think it a very good thing to share the responsibility, at any rate, while this responsibility comes during the same year as the School Leaving Certificate.

Apart from this material aspect we feel the loyalty and co-operation which emanated from this plan has fully justified the continuance of it and this year we are in fact expanding the plan and the House Mistresses are taking an even greater share in the general running of the School—it is always good to experience just how much is involved in the organisation and administration of the community to which one belongs.

I should like to express my appreciation to all who have co-operated so loyally to make for the success which has resulted, to each and everyone I am deeply grateful and I think we may look on 1960 as a year of hard work, coupled with achievement and happiness.

You have all had the letter telling of our plan for more and concentrated work this year and I will not say more of it now, for there is much still to adjust but the five minutes between lessons with the consequent full period of work is already much appreciated and as the rest falls into place, I am sure it too will prove its worth.

Last year's Upper V has very thoughtfully given us a cup for work in the Houses, strangely—or perhaps shockingly—we have cups for most else but not for work and it is with pleasure that we shall award the cup this afternoon and while thanking the donors, hope that the Houses will appreciate the intrinsic value of this award.

There are exhibitions of work in the Science and Art Rooms, and you will see that we now have a Geography room, filling a long felt need, and still only one laboratory but I sincerely hope by next year we shall have two for you to see, for this is an even greater need.

When I started writing this report two words came to my mind — loyalty and courtesy—and it would seem to me that these two—so much forgotten in these days—would sum up a way of life above reproach. All rules and regulations in any of our lives are only made and formed in order that we may live peacefully and happily one with another—internationally—on the roads, in schools and in our homes—but speed seems to be the justification for excluding all such niceties and yet one realises in what high esteem courtesy was held when it was said "An earl by right—by courtesy a man" or to-day in a village shop when one small boy was showing another round and was over-heard to say "And you still have to say please and thank you in this shop"—the 92 year old owner said that only he had time now to teach manners. Indeed a pity to let the benefits of speed be out-weighed by lack of courtesy when it was once thought that "if a man be gracious and courteous to strangers it shows he is a citizen of the world"—no good to conquer the means for world citizenship and lose the art of it.

Loyalty too is oft considered outmoded and we tend to forget the loyalty we owe to the community while we are one of it; how easily we grumble, complain, exaggerate and enjoy showing how bad everything is around us, forgetting that by so doing it is ourselves we are painting in such gloomy colours; it is easy to listen and repeat, usually only the derogatory, seldom the complimentary or is it just a way of expressing our ego? Should we not rather remember that "he that shall rule his tongue shall live without strife?"

How readily we complain of the heat, the rain, the price of this or that, the crowds, any such while we are here but once on the other side of the equator, how hotly we defend it all. Much the same happens in school—exaggerating, decrying, even inventing if the lime light is not in the right place and not till I suppose distance lends enchantment does the strong loyalty appear—a pity to wait, it is so valuable in the present, for country, home or school where loyalty and learning must go hand in hand, for

"The King, observing with judicious eyes
The state of both his universities,
To Oxford sent a troop of horses, and why?
That learned body wanted loyalty;
To Cambridge books, as well discerning
How much that loyal body wanted learning.

So with unity, loyalty and courtesy both through the Houses and the individual I think we can look to 1961 to be another year of hard work, achievement and happiness.

Unfortunately there is one goodbye to be said which must sadden us all—Joel wishes to retire after 38 years of loyal and honest service to the school—in his letter to me he says he worked under Miss Ralph for 10 years, Miss Robinson for 12, Miss Elcome for 23, with me from October, 1947, and that he started working with the contractors who were building the school itself in 1923 and I would add that he has seen the building of the School as you have it to-day. He ends by expressing his sincere thanks for working in harmony with all the Principals, adding his good wishes to the School for many years of happiness and progress.

A great loyalty, courteously expressed.

After presenting the prizes Mrs. Newton Thompson spoke on the possibilities for women in the world to-day. She pointed out that achievement of any worth depends on the fundamentals of one's education. Which in turn depends on three things: 1, Concentration; 2, The use of reference books; 3, The giving of one's best.

"The world is women's oyster to-day", she said, and went on to show how varied are the careers undertaken by women who, she maintained, are rapidly becoming more interested in public service than their predecessors of thirty years ago, while a hundred years ago they were still under their husband's dominance. Yet the career of marriage is still the largest. Not enough training for marriage is given. Ms. Newton Thompson maintained, and she urged the girls as a part of this to each one to spend at least six months working in a hospital or crèche.

In reminding us of the choice that each can make—to get or to give—she told the story of a king who offered his daughter a ruby and a sapphire, the first promising that "all will love you" and the second "you will love all".

The Mayor concluded with a stirring challenge to be good citizens and to help the non-Europeans in their fight for better conditions.

Mr. Robb thanked Mrs. Newton Thompson and Shona Jackson thanked her on behalf of the girls.

CHAPEL NOTES

Committee: Miss McLean, Miss Harsant, M. Blackett, J. Meiring, M. Watson.

Treasurer: S. Burrell.

Secretary: C. Dacey.

During the year Services have been held regularly and Holy Communion has been celebrated by Canon Aubrey on the last day of the four terms.

The Chapel Choir sang at St. Saviour's for the Confirmation Service, at the Mayor's Service early in the year, for Youth Services and have joined with the Church Choir for the Broadcast Services. They have greatly valued these opportunities.

The Library was again used by Canon Aubrey for Confirmation Classes during the third and fourth terms.

During the Christmas holidays tiles are to be laid on the floor of the Chapel which up to now has been very rough, and has been covered largely by coir matting. The blue carpet will be cleaned and re-laid, and the walls will be repainted; this has been made possible by gifts from the Jooste Trust, Old Girls and other friends as well as from the Chapel Fund itself.

A new Altar Curtain has already been hung and is a gift from the Discretionary Fund administered by Miss McLean.

A cake sale was held on 19th October to increase Chapel Funds for Christmas Cheer Gifts and R21-65 was collected at this sale.

We would like to thank Jennifer Meiring, Margaret Watson and Miranda Blackett for their help and interest in the Chapel during the past year. We are also very grateful to Miss Norgarb for her help at Choir and Hymn practices and for frequently playing in Chapel for us, and to Miss Harsant for the many ways in which she has helped throughout the year.

To Miss McLean we owe deep gratitude and appreciation for all the work she has done for us in her capacity as Chairman of the Committee.

C. DACEY, Secretary.

HOUSE NOTES

JAGGER HOUSE

House Mistresses: Mrs. Sachs, Miss Wesemann, Mrs. Himing, Mrs. James, Miss Norgard, Miss Montgomery.

Head of House: Shona Jackson.

Committee:

School Prefect: M. Watson.

House Prefects: N. Cloete, S. Robb, A. Steens.

This year has seen many changes in Jagger House. Miss Mulliner relinquished her position as Senior House Mistress to Mrs. Sachs and Miss Wesemann became the Middle School House Mistress. We are very grateful to Miss Mulliner for all she did and her continued interest in the House and as a mark of appreciation, we gave her a book at an informal gathering.

I should like to welcome the new members of Jagger and hope they will keep up the tradition of the House. At the same time I should like to congratulate the last year matriculation girls on their good results.

Fiona Noble our last head of house, built a strong foundation and created a spirit of enthusiasm and house esprit de corps. We hope that Fiona is enjoying her stay in America and we congratulate her on winning the Field Scholarship.

This year, through determination and hard work, there has been some improvement in work and on the games field. A. Alexander, A. Cowley, L. Brown, J. Henshilwood, S. Clayton, P. Jeffrey and A. Payne have maintained a high standard of work and helped to increase the marks towards the Efficiency Shield.

I should also like to mention that some girls are showing a keener spirit and the work is improving. It is difficult to mention each by name, but S. Raath, H. Robb and E. Henderson have made a special effort.

After a most exciting match Jagger won the Netball cup. Penny Raath as shooter was outstanding—Well done Jagger.

We won the Hockey cup, much to the surprise of many and thanks to the double win of the Middle School. Keep it up Middle School.

The Department cup has also been added to our shelf, even if for six months only because we tied with Rolt. We are now proudly displaying three cups, whereas at the beginning of the year, there was only a bowl of flowers!

This year the inter-house Drama competition was most exciting. Jagger lost to Rolt by one mark. Congratulations Rolt and congratulations to Alicia Fauli and Dorte Brink for producing a good play and a high standard of acting.

We lost the Swimming Cup and Diving Shield after being the proud possessors for many years. We thank Sandra Buchanan and Janeen Kipps for their hard work at the practices and hope to do better this season.

Instead of the usual Art Competition this year, it was decided to have a Magazine Competition which gave a wider scope to many more members. This competition instilled new interest and a rewarding number of entries, was handed in. As editors, P. Jeffrey and A. Cowley worked hard. We are awaiting the results!

We should like to thank Mrs. Sachs and Miss Wesemann for the guidance and help throughout the year, without which we could not achieve as much as we did.

In conclusion, the Jagger Matrics, wish you the best of luck for the future.

S. JACKSON.

MERRIMAN HOUSE

House Mistresses: Mrs. Muller, Mrs. Silberbauer, Miss Bosomworth, Mrs. Johnston.

Head of House: A. Hacking.

Committee:

School Prefects: C. Baker, P. Barrett, L. Brauer.

House Prefect: H. Beck.

On behalf of all Merrimans I would like to welcome all the girls and staff who have joined us this year—especially Miss Bosomworth who looked after the Upper IIIs and Lower IVs while Mrs. Muller was away and Mrs. Silberbauer looked after the seniors for a term. We hope they will always be proud of their house. We thank Jennifer Brimble for her help and encouragement last year and congratulate the Upper Vs on their Matriculation results.

This year our shelf started very full with the Efficiency Shield and a large Inter-School Flower Exhibition shield (won for us by Jennifer Pare) hanging above. Unfortunately the amount has dwindled as the year has gone on. We narrowly lost the Cricket and Netball and came second in the Tennis. We won the Squash cup. Although there is a strong team spirit throughout and every one defends well few attack determinedly.

We thank Denise White as producer and her helpers for their hard work in the Inter-House Drama Competition. Their play "Ballet Hoo" was most entertaining.

The children of St. Michael's were very pleased to receive the wooden nursery toys which formed our gift this year. Those who took them down to the Home spent a happy time with the children watching them playing with the toys and listening to their singing. A group of girls also went to the Home to give them the jerseys we had knitted and they were delighted to hear the children play their percussion band—a previous year's present from Merriman. We thank Mrs. Johnston for her difficult task of collecting the jerseys and for her work for the Mission to Seamen. We sent many handkerchiefs to the fête held at Admiralty House for the Mission.

It is with gratitude that, on behalf of the Merrimans in Upper V I thank Mrs. Muller and Mrs. Silberbauer for making our part in running the House so easy. They especially guided and encouraged us at the beginning of the year when we did not know what was expected of us—except to stop girls running through the hall.

I would also like to thank Marion Jesse, Annette White, Suzanne Williams and Astrid Landsberg for their good work this year. Unfortunately it has been severely marred by the many refusals. If everybody really did their best and did not consider herself first, I am sure we would do very well both in sport and in work.

In conclusion I would like to thank all Merrimans—from the Upper IIIs in the study reciting poetry, to my fellow prefects—for an entertaining and happy year. I wish them lots of luck and success in the future.

ANNE HACKING, Upper V.

ROLT HOUSE

House Mistresses: Mrs. Pierce Jones, Mrs. McCormick, Miss Harsant, Mrs. Hampson, Mrs. Popham Smith

Head of House: M. van der Bijl.

Committee:

School Prefects: G. Davis, J. Meiring.

House Prefect: T. Henstra.

We should like to extend a warm welcome to all the new members in the House and thank Hilary Simpson for all she did for the House last year.

The House Spirit has improved tremendously over the last two years and the inter-House competitions have been entered into with keen enthusiasm. We were able to retain the Tennis cup and add the Cricket and Swimming cups and the Diving shield to our shelf this year. Unfortunately we lost the Hockey cup to Jagger and the Squash cup to Merriman. Once again we were able to put the Drama cup back on our shelf thanks to the hard work of Rosemary Mackenzie and Corinne Dicey, and the enthusiasm of the cast. This year we decided to have a Magazine competition instead of an Art competition.

The work this year has been very disappointing and there is room for a great deal of improvement on the part of those who leave the work to others.

Throughout the year we have continued to support the various charities in the Cape which have appealed to us, and to take presents to the children at the Princess Alice Home.

In conclusion the Rolt prefects and Upper V join in thanking Mrs. Pierce Jones in the Senior School and Mrs. McCormick in the Middle School for their help and encouragement throughout the year and wish the House the best of luck in the future.

AIRBORNE

To-morrow was going to be my first venture into the air. My father, who was taking me, sent me to bed early, as we were to leave at first light.

Full of excitement, I turned and tossed in bed for what seemed to be the whole night through, with only to-morrow's prospect clearly in my mind. Suddenly I found myself still tossing and turning, but now in the air, with the craft bouncing, turning, diving, rising then to starboard then to port until finally I woke up with a bump, having fallen out of bed and beaten my father's alarm clock by only seconds.

At six thirty sharp, we embarked into my father's Tri-Pacer from the Vryburg Aerodrome, and, after priming and revving the engine, we became airborne after which seemed to me a very long and fast run on the ground. It was a smooth take-off and very soon we had climbed to four thousand feet and reached cruising speed of one hundred and twenty miles per hour. It was a dual control plane, and I was allowed to use the extra controls. The sky was clear the atmosphere calm, and we sped along so comfortably that to me it seemed as though we were making no headway, but merely suspended in the air.

Our destination was Isabang in the British Bechuanaland Protectorate, some one hundred and eighty miles north of Vryburg. The country, as seen from the air, was generally featureless, except for one low ridge of hills and the Molopo River, which were clearly visible. Exactly on hour and twenty minutes after taking off, we landed in a large pan at the police outpost known as Isabang.

There we found only two Europeans, one being the District Commissioner and the other a police officer, but there were many smartly dressed African constables. Their large police hats cocked to the left side were very striking. The police operate from there for many miles into the waterless desert and patrol on camels keeping a constant look-out for game poachers. I saw many camels and was told that this was probably the biggest camel breeding station in Southern Africa. I was offered a camel ride, but refused because the animals emitted frightening noises and looked menacing.

My father having completed his business, we returned home in perfect weather and had an uneventful but enjoyable flight, which I shall never forget and which was very much in contrast with my dream flight of the previous evening.

'n NAG WAT EK NOOIT SAL VERGEET NIE

Een nag, omtrent twee jaar gelede, toe ek rustig geslaap het, het ek skielik wakker geword en die geknetter van vlamme gehoor. Haastig het ek uit die bed gespring en ondersoek ingestel.

Toe ek in die vrykamer gegaan het, het ek gesien dat die plafon in volle vlam was. Ek het met 'n mond vol tande by die deur gestaan en ek kon nie 'n beweging maak nie. Meteens was daar 'n oorverdowende slag en 'n balk het amper op my kop geval.

Ek het so geskrik dat ek haastig weggehardloop het en na die telefoon gegaan het. Ek het die brandweerstasie gebel en die brandweer ontbied. Toe het ek my ouers gaan wakker maak en 'n kamerjas aangetrek. Binne 'n paar minute was ons hele gesin in die straat en die brandweer het die straat afgesnel. 'n Groot skare het in hulle kamerjasse en pantoffels vergader en ons bure het vir ons swart koffie in 'n termosfles gegee.

Die brandweermanne het op die brandlere geklim en party van ons meubels uit die hu's gered. Rook het uit die vensters geborrel en 'n groot rookwolk was in die lug. Die hitte was vreeslik en ons het amper verstik van die rook.

Meteens het ek onthou dat my kat nog in die kombuis was. Ek het my vader vertel en hy het die brandweershof daarvan vertel. 'n Paar brandmanne het oor die vallende balke geklouter. Eindelik het hulle uitgekom met my kat. O, ek was bly om haar te sien! Ons het die brandweermanne bedank, want dit was 'n baie waaghalsige daad.

Eindelik het die brandweermanne die vuur geblus, maar die huis was 'n smeulende puin. Gelukkig was alles teen brand verassureer.

Daardie nag het ons by ons bure gaan slaap en daarna in 'n losleshuis gaan woon totdat ons huis weer gebou is, maar ek sal nooit die skok van daardie nag vergeet nie.

THE SUNSET

She stood looking out over the sea which lay before her in a spreading carpet of dappled blue and gold. The sun was setting and had, in fact, nearly disappeared behind the thin blue line of the horizon which seemed to stretch out into the sky. It was for this moment that she had been waiting—this moment when the sea and the sky and the hills and all the countryside nestling around were suddenly plunged into incredible depths of living, fiery colour.

She saw the rippling waves along the line of the horizon turn purple and then change to a soft and downy colour that was as pink as a cloud of flamingoes in flight. She heard the quiet murmur of the stream as it leapt onward to the sea and, turning, beheld the range of the hills which sprawled along the coast, and saw that the setting sun had cast shadows among the burnished gold of the sands.

In another moment the shadows would lengthen and chase the lingering light from all that she surveyed and then only a kind of faint, weak afterglow would remain as evidence of the majestic glory of the sunset. Then darkness, void and empty blackness.

She shivered, but the light had not yet quite gone. Soon the fishing fleet would return from its day's work out at sea, and she would hear the hearty laughter of the men and sniff the friendly wafting odour of fishing nets and the day's catch. As she turned quietly and started to make her way homewards, she thought that she would never forget this night when she had been so close to nature that she felt almost part of it. Behind her the sea lay like a patchwork quilt of lengthening shadows under the brow of the hills.

GAIL PINCHAM, Upper IV 8.

THE SEVENTH WAVE

As I stood on the rock while watching the sea,
I knew that the time had ended for me
For I was a gull with a broken wing,
Severed by an eagle with a deadly cling.

I wondered how long I had to wait
And looked at the sea with angry hate
For the waves stormed high, and the clouds were grey,
While the thunder clapped down without delay.

I thrust my head up and prayed to the sky
That God would help me never to die.
But death had come with the seventh wave,
Which swept me down to the bed of my grave.

CAROL PHILLIPS, Upper IV 8.

'n SEEREIS

"Is julle almal klaar om te vertrek?" het Pa van die motor af geroep.

Ja, ons was almal klaar. Ek het eerste in die motor geklim en toe Marie en Moeder. Alles is in die motor gepak en ons het vertrek.

Toe ons by Kalkbaai aangekom het, het ons al die bagasie in Pa se nuwe motorboot gesit. Ons het die motor by die garage gelaat en op die skip geklim. Ons sou die vakansie op die see deurbring en ons het kos vir 'n hele maand in die skip gepak. Ons het van die hawe vertrek en toe was ons op die ope see. Ons het langs die Weskus gevaar.

Na drie dae het ons Salhanhabaal bereik. Daar het ons geland om olie vir die skip te koop. Later, toe ons weer aan die gang was, het ons visgevang. Ek het twee makriele gekry en Marie het twee groter visse gevang. Later dié dag het ons die skip tot stilstand gebring om in die see te swem. Die golwe was nie groot nie en ons het lekker geswem.

Die volgende dag het die motor onklaar gemaak en ons moes probeer om die skip na die strand te bring. Dit was baie moeilik maar ons het dit ná drie uur gedoen. Ons was almal baie moeg en ons het op die strand geslaap.

Later het ons wakker geword en Pa het geprobeer om die motor van die skip heel te maak maar hy kon dit nie doen nie. Meteens het ons 'n groot skip in die verte gesien.

Ons het dadelik 'n groot vuur gemaak om die skip se aandag te trek. Ons het baie van die meubels in ons boot vir die vuur gebruik.

Gelukkig het die skip ons gesien en hulle het 'n klein bootjie na ons gestuur. Die mense het gehelp om ons stukkende motor weer reg te maak.

Ons het hulle baie bedank en saam met hulle boot, het ons s'n vertrek. Ons het na Kaapstad teruggevaar, want Pa wou nie hê dat die motor weer onklaar moet raak nie. Ons het die laaste deel van die reis baie geniet. Ons het 'n baie aangename reis gehad en ek sal dit nooit vergeet nie.

LIMERICKS

There was a young lady of Ealing
Who thought she could dance with feeling,
But her partner's plight
Was a sorry sight
When he landed up on the ceiling!

LESLEY BROWN, Lower IV C.

There was a young teacher at Harschel,
Who really was frightfully partial
To guavas and stew,
And I'm telling you,
That is the special of Harschel.

MARIAN GREY, Lower IV B.

A GNOME

In a dark and shady wood,
A funny little fellow stood.
His eyes were bright, his nose was long,
His arms were brown and very strong.

I watched him as he gazed around,
And as he heard me make a sound
He gave a start, I heard him cough,
And ere I could greet him he was off.

Away he ran and led me to
A little house all bright and new,
He went inside and then I saw,
A tiny notice on the door.

"Gnome's House" it said, and "Private" too,
And all at once my dreams came true.
Those dreams I'd dreamt of elves and gnomes,
And lots of other woodland homes.

I said "Goodbye" but heard no sound,
Except my footsteps on the ground.
And as I made my way back home,
My thoughts were of that little gnome,

CAROL PAYNE, Lower IV B.

THE GLADE

No airy breeze stirs the peaceful silence of this glade. The sunlight strikes dappled patterns on the undergrowth and plays upon the still waters of the pool. In its mysterious depths a glimpse of shiner black bodies can be seen as the trout dart swiftly beneath the muddy banks. Occasionally a brilliantly coloured autumn leaf floats down to break the water's surface.

A minute gem in the form of a kingfisher adds a splash of colour to the leaf-denuded willow tree. Hovering on tiny wings he dives ridiculously into the clear water; but his attempt proves fruitless and he must needs fly upstream to fill his crop.

The tiny minnows once more dart near the surface, and, as evening draws nigh, an elderly trout starts to feed on the insects which perchance have landed on the surface.

The gurgle of the tiny waterfall above the pool fails to mask the timid rustling audible in the dry undergrowth. Even the lightest of mammals would find it difficult to tread silently on brittle autumn leaves.

A glistening black nose, backed by two gorgeous liquid brown eyes, appears in the gathering dusk. Followed by his does, a petit dun buck makes his appearance at the water's edge. He is keenly alert, with wicked sharp black horns erect and delicate ears pricked.

Two beautiful heads dip simultaneously and two tongues sip their fill. They depart; and the silent curtain of night falls to veil all nature in her mysterious glory.

MA GRAND'MÈRE

Ma grand'mère avait soixante dix-huit ans quand elle est morte. Je la visitais tous les dimanches chez elle à Claremont. C'était une grande vieille maison, avec un grand salon, et beaucoup de grandes chambres. J'aimais mieux le salon, où nous causions les après-midis. Dans ce salon, il y avait des grandes fenêtres desquelles nous voyions le beau jardin, les arbres, et les jolies fleurs.

Dans le salon il y avait un grand fauteuil où grand'maman s'asseyait. Elle avait les cheveux gris, presque blancs, et les petits yeux bleus qui étincelaient quand elle riait. Elle marchait lentement avec un bâton et je devais l'aider à se lever. Nous causions longtemps en hiver au coin du feu, et quand grand'maman est morte, tout le monde dans notre famille était très triste.

SHEN ATTWELL, Upper IV.

THANK YOU, MISS McLEAN

For all the many years you've guided us
 And helped us on our way
 It's very sad indeed for us when 'long comes "farewell day".
 It's harder still to think of all the many things you've done
 For all the care you've given us, yes each and every one,
 To say thank you for these many things is very hard to do
 But now we realise too well how we appreciate you.

VICTORIA BASIN

There is a fascination the docks have for me which I cannot describe. The muddy green colour of the water is one of the most beautiful I have ever seen and all the fishing boats, massed one upon the other, make up such an interesting picture of colours and of never-ending activity that I have often been tempted to paint the scene just as it is before my eyes. Yes, I have often sketched something in the Docks while making myself patient as the morning slowly goes by. But making myself patient is not altogether true. There is always something interesting to watch, if I don't feel like going for a walk as I often do. Sitting lack-a-daisically on a jetty next to a dirty fishing boat or next to one which still has had no fish aboard it yet, except in the form of a workman's lunch, I often watch various types of boats going out of the harbour and I sometimes see the Robin Island Ferry coming in just opposite me.

Last Sunday I had quite an interesting morning because I had a little chat with a port captain. He told me about the collision the tug, the F.T. Bates, had had with the mailship, and took me to inspect the damage on its side. People are so often in the midst of an unusual incident without being aware of it, and regret afterwards that they did not know about it while they were there . . .

The port captain also told me about various ships about which I enquired.

A VISIT TO THE ZOO

Of all the things I like to do
 Is to pay a visit to the zoo
 There are camels too
 And a chimpanzee that says boo.

The monkeys catching peanuts in their paws
 The lion roars
 Giraffe, polarbears and tigers with their claws
 All shut away behind iron doors.

The birds that in their cages sing
 Happily, tho' no longer on the wing
 The monkeys sitting in a ring
 The largest one like a king.

Then having seen them all
 I sit and eat an icecream large and tall.

DIE DAG TOE MY MOEDER NIE DIE SLEUTELS
KON VIND NIE

Dit was al laat toe ons by die huis gekom het en almal was baie moeg. Ons het die dag op Tafelberg deurgebring. Toe ons by die voordeur kom, soek Moeder die sleutels. Sy kon hulle nie vind nie.

Wat nou? Hier was ons uitgesluit. Ons kon nie die hele nag buite bly nie. Toe kry Pa 'n plan. Hy sal 'n venster breek en my broer sal daardeur klim.

Ons het agter die huis omgestap en Pa het die kombuisvenster gebreek en Piet het ingeklim. Toe hoor ons 'n geskree en daar was Piet op die kombuisvloer. Hy het sy been gebreek.

Pa was te groot om deur die venster te kruip en ek was te kort. Wat kan ons nou doen? Toe hoor ons iemand fluit. Dit was Piet se vriend. Hy wou by Piet 'n besoek aflê.

Toe hy hoor wat gebeur het, het hy deur die venster geklim. Eers het hy na die voordeur gestap, maar dit het vasgesteek en hy kon dit nie oopmaak nie. Daarna het hy in die laaie van die kaste in Pa se studeerkamer na die spaarsleutel gesoek, maar het dit nie gevind nie.

Toe het hy in al die laaie in die kombuis gesoek en het die agterdeur se sleutel gevind. Die was omtrent tienuur toe ons in die huis gestap het.

Pa het gou die hospitaal gaan bel en Ma het warm melk vir almal gemaak. Om halftien het die ambulans gekom en Piet na die hospitaal geneem. Ons het bed toe gegaan, want ons was almal doodmoeg.

A STORM AT SEA

It was a warm close day in the monsoon season, and a small, black Chinese fishing smack glided easily through the murky waters of the East China sea on its way to Woosung, an island just past Shanghai, to collect the nets they had left there to be repaired.

A few members of the crew scurried about on the deck sorting the fish, and the captain stood next to the tiller, his narrow eyes half closed as he scanned the horizon for any sight of a storm. Suddenly a cold fear gripped his heart, as his keen eyes picked up a small typhoon far in the distance.

He shouted a command to the crew who immediately jumped to their positions. Their only hope was to reach the island of Tinghai before the storm broke and the monsoons came.

Some of the crew, half crazed with fear, crouched down at the helm; some of them lying prostrated on the deck praying aloud to Buddha to save them from their terrible fate.

All of a sudden it seemed as if a dark curtain had been dropped for a thick, deep blackness descended upon them and a strong wind sprang up, even the sea changed and the light craft was buffeted about on the strong rough waves. The crew worked swiftly and silently, it was all they could do to keep the smack from being capsized.

The wind grew stronger and stronger as it howled round and round the smack. Some of the crew clapped their hands and shut their eyes as if to close out all the terrible forebodings of what seemed would be the worst monsoon of the season.

But their prayers were not answered for the rain suddenly came with such force that it seemed it had been imprisoned in heaven and had burst free from its chains to destroy what it could in its wrath. Harder and harder beat the rain, louder and louder howled the wind and an occasional vivid flash of lightening through the thick sheet of rain would illuminate the smack making the terrified faces of the crew look almost grotesque as they sat huddled together in a corner.

The storm grew fiercer with every second. Many of the crew who were still sane enough to pray, cried aloud to their God to save them from this terrible predicament. But he seemed to ignore them; not one man on that smack lived through the terrible monsoon. For the smack gave a great groan and sank one hour later and the crew to save themselves from being crushed by falling timber, jumped into the sea to their watery graves and they were neither seen nor heard of again.

THE HEX RIVER VALLEY

To many people this district is just another "place of passing" on the busy road up north to near and distant parts of Africa. Not many stop here as trains are often non-stop and when they do rest for a few minutes at De Doorns, the valley's only real centre of trade, it is only for refuelling or adding on another engine in preparation for the steep climb into the Little Karoo. The national road to Johannesburg passes right through the valley in the non-populated area from where some lovely views can be observed. This road is used daily by many vehicles but very few have time, or their passengers, inclination, to meander off the "beaten track" to explore what I think the most beautiful of all views—soft mountain streams trickling down hilly slopes over huge, opaque, marble-like stones and the air filled harmoniously with singing birds melodiously mingling with the hum of the insects. There may be even a bushman painting or two behind you on the old rocks which have stood there for countless years and continue to become more and more part of the attraction. Yet nowadays there is not much time for this sort of beauty with which I have grown up and which I respect more and more each and every time I come in contact with it.

The Hex River Valley, or translated from Afrikaans, Valley of the Witch, I think has a most inappropriate name as certainly one would not ever visualise it to be the habitation of such apparitions. On entering it as from the lower Worcester area a large cutting has been hollowed out to allow the national road to pass through the mountain instead of around it as was done in my early childhood. The view here is breathtaking in the autumn when all the vineyards (the valley yields essentially grapes) are at their peak of rustic colourings, just as the contrast in spring when the cool, luscious greenness of the vine leaves is beautiful to behold. In winter snow falls half way down the mountains, this being perhaps one of the valley's big attractions and a ski-ing club has been established though it operates from the opposite Ceres side of the range. Probably the best known mountain is "Matroosberg" which is high and steep in many parts so providing excellent sport in ski-ing and climbing for enthusiasts. During the middle of winter, when the snow is usually most prominent and the contrast of the purple slopes with the sheer, glistening snow at the top is in itself exquisite.

To-day numerous farms and new houses have sprung up and the valley could almost be classified as one large and distant suburb of Worcester which is eighteen miles south and the valley's industrial centre.

But to me and perhaps many people, the most heavenly time of day and maybe of existence in this valley, is waking up at daybreak hearing the chitter-chatter of the numerous species of bird toned in against the deep and calm serenity of the atmosphere making one feel that any worries of life and of this troubled world are non-existent.

TWO DAYS IN ATHENS

With a feeling of anticipation and excitement I waved goodbye to my friends standing on the balcony of Jan Smuts airport. We quickly mounted the rather unstable steps into the Comet, flight 1628, bound for Athens, Rome, Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam and London! My sister, Fiona, and I were travelling to join my parents in Athens. Soon we were high above the clouds flying at an altitude of sixteen thousand feet. The following day dawned clear and serene. We gazed out of the window at the deep, crystal clear sea, and soon saw Crete and the small Greek islands, which could be seen breaking the blue of the shimmering ocean, like small brown spots. Over the doorway flashed the sign "Fasten your seat belts" and "Extinguish your cigarettes", and with a slight bump we landed on Greek soil.

We quickly made for the doorway, and were excitedly welcomed by our mother and father. We then drove to our hotel, "Grande Britannia". It was a marvellous drive, all along the sea front, passed quaint little cafés, old harbours, battered weatherbeaten fishing boats, and the tumble down houses of the fisherfolk. Our hotel was situated in the centre of Athens, and we had lovely rooms with large windows overlooking Athens and the Acropolis.

That evening was spent taking a long drive all over Athens to see "Athens by night". We passed through the shopping centre, past the stadium, the Odeum of Herod Atticus, and the Olympion and eventually ended up in a small harbour café where we had prawns and wine for dinner, sitting at a small table overlooking a harbour, full of fascinating yachts slowly swaying to the motion of the tides.

The following day we spent in Athens, exploring. Although it was Easter Sunday we decided not to attend Church, but rather go and see the Acropolis as our stay was so short. We took our car to the bottom of the hill and then slowly climbed the massive stone steps, admiring the view and being tempted into buying small souvenirs. We were soon marvelling at the structure and architecture of the Parthenon and the temples. We visited the "Erechtheum" the "Propylaea" and the "Temple of Athena Nike" and the "Acropolis Museum". Unfortunately not all the statues can be seen here as Lord Elgin took many to England.

We returned to the hotel for lunch. Easter Sunday in Greece is a very special occasion and we found at our table a large big bowl of bright red hard boiled eggs. It is the Greek custom to eat these eggs on Easter Sunday, and to crack them open on the head of the person sitting on your right. We had an amusing lunch cracking open our eggs and wishing everyone a Happy Easter.

The next day we decided to drive to Sourion, a small village outside Athens. It was a wonderful day, not too hot due to a small breeze. It was a pleasant drive all along the coast past olive groves, small fishing towns and small islands. At Sourion we explored the Temple of Zeus, which stands on a small piece of land jutting out into the sea.

Unfortunately, we had to leave Athens the following afternoon, and we spent the morning shopping. My sister and I were entranced by all the dolls and small bracelets. In Athens one sees many poor peasants selling sponges and souvenirs. Alas, our time was soon over and we again found ourselves aboard the Comet bound for Rome. We had a wonderful time in Athens which will always remain to us a dream city full of the most fascinating buildings, statues and people. All I can say to our Greek friends is "Afraistoe".

HERMANUS

Just over one hundred years ago in 1855 a herd of pigs strayed from a farm in the Western Cape owned by a man by the name of Hermanus Petrusfontein. After a frantic search he headed towards the sea and found them next to a beautiful natural pool about ten miles from his home. He was so struck by the beauty of the coastline that he told all his friends about it and decided to build a house there. Gradually more houses grew up, more so when it was discovered that there was an abundance of all kinds of fish in the bay (to-day known as Walker's Bay) and the small fishing village became known as Hermanus. To-day it is a popular holiday resort for people from all over the Republic. The natural pool is known as "Frikkie se Baai" and is very popular among the children of the town.

To-day fishing along the coastline is not purely for pleasure. A harbour known as the New Harbour has been built where the trawlers unload their catch and where there is a perlemoen factory. There has been talk of building a fishmeal factory but if this happens Hermanus will lose most of its beauty and charm. The old harbour still exists and in it we can see what the old Hermanus was really like. It has never changed and the rugged old Coloured fishermen go out regularly in their little fishing boats to bring in their catch.

Hermanus is the only town in the whole of the Republic with a station but no trains. The luxury bus leaves Hermanus every day for Cape Town and this is the sole transport for a number of the inhabitants of the town. The koppie in the middle of the town is named after Sir William Hay. He, together with his wife, is buried on the top of the koppie. It was due to him that the beauty of Hermanus was not spoiled by the dirt and grime of trains and to this day the house where he lived still stands with a model train on the front gate.

Half of the beauty of Hermanus used to be in the thatch roofed houses but Hermanus has been subject to frequent and disastrous fires and now there are very few left. In recent years thirty-six homes have been burnt down, six in 1957, twenty-three in 1958, and seven in 1961.

This has not stopped the holiday-makers from spending their annual holiday at Hermanus, a town which presents entertainment for old and young alike. At Christmas the Grotto Beach is crowded. At low tide one can drive along the beach for miles. At one place there is a tiny house built in a rock, presumably lived in by a fisherman during the season. Water skiing on the lagoon as well as sailing are thrills for holiday-makers. Bowls and golf are popular among the older folk.

Mountain climbing is still popular among the younger people and on the mountains surrounding Hermanus nearly every type of wild flower and heath can be found. Unfortunately over 1960-61 holiday season the whole mountain blazed up from one end to the other. At night it was a brilliant sight to see illuminated against the sky.

Over the last century Hermanus has grown from a tiny fishing village to a popular holiday resort, known to some as the Riviera of the Cape with every facility to please old and young alike.

DRAMA

Three delightful plays were produced for this year's Drama Competition. Once again they were judged by Mrs. Allan who gave most helpful criticism at the end of the performance.

Rolt won the cup with an excellent production of a charming comedy "Apple-Pie Order" by T. B. Morris. It was produced by Rosemary MacKenzie and Corinne Dicey. Rosemary also took the part of the Queen which made her task an arduous one. The costumes and general presentation of this play were particularly good.

Jagger chose a more serious play—"Riders to the Sea" by John Synge. Here, too, the presentation was good and a very real atmosphere was created. Alicia Faulk who took the part of the mother gave a very creditable performance. She and Dorte Brink produced as well as taking part.

Merriman came third having chosen a play "Ballet Hoo" that was not quite so suitable in that it was a comedy that needed more drilling and rehearsing than time would allow. Denise White was the producer and, as in the other plays, she took part. Her performance as the eccentric producer of the "Ballet" was well done.

The programmes and posters were also judged. Here Jagger and Rolt obtained 4 out of 5 points each and Merriman 3 for the programmes. Rolt had the best poster gaining full marks, while Jagger and Merriman tied with 8 out of 10 marks. This brought the over-all totals to Rolt 86, Jagger 85, Merriman 75.

A very pleasant afternoon was brought to a close when Mrs. Allan presented the cup to the Rolt producer, and a bouquet was given to Mrs. Allan as a token of our gratitude.

THE CHOIR

The choir began to work hard as soon as we returned to school this year as Founder's Day was early in February. A definite project ahead, as always, brought out the best in the singing. We sang "I waited for the Lord" and the service terminated as usual with "God be in my head" and the Choral Amen.

The next occasion we sang for was the Mayoral Inauguration Ceremony. We were extremely honoured to be able to sing at this important function. It was a colourful service, the morning sunlight filtering through the stained-glass windows enhanced the colours of the traditional mayoral ceremonial clothes. We sang "Lift thine eyes to the mountains" and ended with the Choral Amen. Mrs. Momberg received many congratulations on the singing and it seemed quite apparent that the congregation had enjoyed the service as much as we had.

Tessa Corder's wedding was the next event. It was especially interesting for some of us as we remembered Tessa well as been a member of the choir. We sang "Oh lovely peace" at her request. After the service the choir hurried back to school where the most delicious spread was awaiting us provided by Mrs. Corder.

We were extremely sorry in June to say goodbye to Mrs. Momberg who had been with us for three years, but were equally happy to welcome Sybil Norgarb, an old Herschelian, in her place.

We began practising early for the Carol Service—the major event for the choir—concentrating on the old traditional type of carol.

We worked very hard at tone and harmony, and learnt many new descants which made the singing more interesting for us and for those listening. We sang "Unto us a boy is born" in four parts with an added descant in alternate voices. "Balulalou", the soft lullaby, was sung unaccompanied. We ended "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" with a new and rousing descant.

The singing over the past year has been of a steady and good quality. The choir always rising to the occasion. Lesley and I on behalf of the choir would like to thank Mrs. Momberg for all the help she gave us during her years at Herschel. We would also like to thank Miss Norgarb for all her assistance and unfailing support and encouragement. Finally, all our best wishes go to next year's choir.

AN HOUR'S ENTERTAINMENT

At the end of the third term the girls took an afternoon off to see an hour's entertainment by the Drama Class and the Extra French classes. They were joined by the mothers of the performers and altogether they made a most appreciative audience.

Each French class acted a little scene. "L'Ogre" and "Le Sac Rouge" by the beginners; the Upper III's and Lower IV's were delighted to recognise here a dramatisation of one of their class readings, then "Le Loup", with Linda Blackman as a terrified village woman, Marion Jesse as a shepherd boy who captures a "wolf" and Jane Tomlinson as the schoolmaster who explains the mystery, and "Les Pillules Merveilleuses", in which Shen and Karen Attwell made a convincing pair of rogues.

The drama class acted two plays from Lytton Strachey's "Victoria Regina"; "Under Fire" with Dorte Brink and Anne Cowley as Victoria and Albert, and "We Are Not Amused", with Alicia Faulk as the guilty Lady in Waiting and Josephine Dean a commanding Queen Victoria. There were also three mimes, a solo, "Fantasy in Bethlehem" by Diana Pegram, an office scene by the whole group and, finally the dramatic "Heat", a mime composed by Mrs. Saffery herself and effectively put across by the pupils under her direction with Carol Phillips as narrator.

It was evident that performers and producers had worked enthusiastically at their task for although the entertainment was intended to be no more than a presentation of ordinary class work, the standard of the acting and the impromptu costumes and décor was good.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

ART CLUB

On the whole, 1961 has been a very successful year for the Art Club. At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Muller divided us up into four sections which met alternately on Tuesdays and Fridays. There were two sketch groups, one life group and a crafts group. We changed our respective groups each term.

The girls in the sketching groups were taken by Mrs. Muller into the park next to the school, and some very good studies of the many trees were made and there was a visit to Zeekoeivlei which was a great success. Thanks are due to Mrs. Thal who so kindly provided transport, and to our hostess, Mrs. Swart, who gave us all a lovely tea.

The life-group had girls to pose for them who kept surprisingly still. We were also shown the drawing of the human figure on the Epidiascope and there was some good leather and pewter work turned out by the crafts-group. We helped to make small stools which were useful on our outings.

Mrs. Allan very kindly took over during the third term of the year, while Mrs. Muller had a well-earned rest.

During the year, the Matric form were taken to an exhibition on Malay Art and one by Irma Stern, the famous South African artist. They also saw Cecil Higg's exhibition which was very interesting.

Under the good guidance of Mrs. Muller, the Art Club has really flourished this last year.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY

President: Mrs. Pierce Jones.

Chairman: H. Dempers.

Mrs. McCormick.

Secretary: L. Brauer, C. Dicey.

Representatives: Upper V, S. Jackson; Lower V, D. White, C. Cowley;

Upper IV, J. Moll, A. White.

The past year seems to have gone by so quickly that we do not seem to have had sufficient time available for the number of meetings we had planned to hold.

The first school debate of the year was held in the library on 22nd March. Mrs. Pierce Jones was present. The motion before the house was "We do not value that which costs us nothing". D. Hunt proposed the motion, putting forward the points well and A. Hacking opposed it. Finally the motion was won by 42 votes to 31.

The next school debate was held in the library on 7th June. Present were Miss McLean and Mrs. Pierce Jones. The motion before the house was "Censorship destroys one of the greatest freedoms". P. Barrett, the Honourable Proposer, and N. Cloete, the Honourable Opposer, both made many good points, though in the end the motion was won by 43 to 34.

Another school debate was held in the library on 13th September. The motion before the house being "Written examinations should be abolished". Proposing the motion was M. Vertue, followed by A. Faulk opposing it. When the motion was open to the floor there was a lively response with many persons becoming active members of the Debating Society. The clear, concise speech of S. Hacking, the summer-up for the Proposition indeed swayed the minds of many of the members present and finally after a vote had been taken the motion was won by 23 votes to 18.

Towards the end of the year Mrs. Pierce Jones resigned her position as president of the Debating Society. We were very sorry to have her leave us, but we welcome Mrs. McCormick in her place and hope that she will enjoy her work in the Debating Society.

C. DICKY, Lower V.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

This year the club has not been very active owing to a suggestion by Dr. Ronald Singer, Professor of Anatomy at the University, to amalgamate all school science clubs.

We were invited to send representatives to a meeting at the Museum where representatives from interested schools met to discuss this possibility. Dr. Singer took the chair and said how disappointed he was that so few schools were represented. Staff members were also invited but only as spectators.

It was decided to elect one representative from each school to be on the Central Committee. Meetings would be held in the museum once or twice a term. It was hoped that in the future members would devise their own papers and read them at future meetings.

In the second term ten girls were invited to a meeting at the museum to hear a talk on Plankton by Mr. Grindley and another on Astronomy by Dr. Stoy. The museum taxidermist demonstrated how to mount a bird for display and his assistant showed us how to make a cast of a fresh fish and "make-it-up" for display in a museum case.

Unfortunately no further notice has been received from Dr. Singer as to when the next meeting will be held.

I should like to thank Mrs. Silberbauer and Miss Wesemann for their help and encouragement this year and wish the club success and improvement next year.

MARGARET WATSON, Upper V.

SOCIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

President: Miss McLean.

Secretary: Anne Hacking (first half), Denise White (second half).

Committee: Mrs. Hampson, C. Baker, H. Beck, C. Dickey, D. Ovenstone, M. Vertue, E. Bryant, S. Hunt.

This year we chose as our theme "Awakening Africa". We kept to it closely for the first two terms but then side-tracked on to a variety of subjects. Our first meeting was held in the hall and Mr. R. Philby from Angola came to talk to us and to show slides on his mission station. Apart from the views of the school and hospital, we saw patients waiting under the trees of the dense forest; evangelists with their clean dark faces and lovely sincere eyes; and witch-doctors in their painted splendour. At our next meeting Mr. S. Dolleray, an amateur photographer who lived in the Federation, showed us slides of Southern Rhodesia—of the mountains, the vegetation and the villages. He ended his talk with an explanation of the workings of the turbines and generators of Kariba Dam.

Perhaps our most interesting outing this year was to the Zonnebloom Training College for Coloured teachers. We were shown the school and training college, the kindergarten section, the beautiful chapel and the boarding house. The boarders do their own dusting, sweeping, washing and ironing and take great pride and care in keeping their dormitories clean and tidy. A few weeks later they paid a return visit to Herschel. As their school is situated at the top of District Six, they were amazed at the "natural vegetation"—as they called the flowers and trees. They were charming and very natural and dedicated to their teaching. They gave us a demonstration of their teaching ability and we sat enthralled as the wolf tried to bite Goldilocks' grandmother. I think we felt rather guilty that these laughing, attractive girls—with whom we discussed the interesting subject of boyfriends as we would with any schoolfriend—are discriminated against, because their skins are darker than ours.

The same issue arose again at our next meeting when the Black Sash film "Notice to Quit" was shown. It was heart-rending to see these respectable Coloured families forced to leave their small, simple homes. It seemed to be biased against the Government and the Group Areas Act; yet in many instances fishermen and shop-keepers were being forced to change their jobs—or to spend money on bus fare and deprive a child of jam on his bread because the money had to be spent on transport.

In our next film about Mukono College—a theological college in Northern Uganda, we were shown an experiment in African teaching. The European headmaster gave some of his responsibilities in running the college—such as the care of the African families and their lands—to the pupils. At first there was serious opposition; but gradually they learned to accept responsibility. It was very moving to see these Africans preparing to go into the African jungle to teach their brethren about Christ.

Our two outings in the second half of the year, although of very different natures, were extremely interesting. The Upper V's went to visit Parliament to hear the Second Debate on the Twelve Day Detainment Bill. It was most amusing to hear members call each other "Pumpkin", but I think we were most amazed at the seeming superficiality. Members were reading books and newspapers, writing letters while taking no notice of another member delivering his well-prepared speech. Dr Jonker kindly entertained us and gave us tea in the Members' private dining-room.

On July 19th, a group of girls visited the Maitland Cottage Home, an orthopaedic home for Coloured children. They were all smiling and seemed cheerful although their spines, or limbs, were severely deformed. Many had been strapped face downwards for many months—even years, while others had their limbs suspended in pulleys. Before we left several of the boys brought out their guitars and the words of their last song "When you're smiling, the whole world smiles with you" simply expressed the courage of these little children.

To many girls, the most important sociological activity this year was the Careers Evening—kindly organised for us by Mr. Baker. Several days previously, Mr. de Kock, a vocational and educational consultant, had spoken to us on "Some indispensable factors in choosing a career". He stressed the development of one's own talents; making the decision oneself (not doing merely what our parents would like); and finding out as much as possible about all suitable careers. Dr. Marais, a psychiatrist and former Headmaster of a Boys' Reformatory, opened the evening. With his advice "to be useful to our fellow citizens", and Mr. de Kock's in mind we approached the experts. The evening was a great success—every girl acquiring some further information about a possible career, whether archaeology or fashion modelling.

Later in the year, two more women came to tell us about their careers—Miss L. Bitteker, a professional woman Church Worker, and Mrs. Hart, Senior Occupational Therapist at Groote Schuur Hospital. The former who had come from the U.S.A. to work for a year in the Cape Diocese instructs men and women in Sunday School teaching. Mrs. Hart told us about the work done by the therapist in the Alcoholic, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Disease and Rehabilitation Homes in addition to the wards of general hospitals.

One Wednesday afternoon, two Old Herschelians, Anne Rough and Rosemary Hellings came to tell us about the American Field Scholarship and their tour of the U.S.A. Their schools in Illinois, with 150 pupils in each class (six thousand in the school); the special cafeterias and intercom. radios made Herschel seem very small. We were all interested in the system of dating when one becomes "pinned" to one's special boy-friend. In the U.S.A. the school is closely connected with the social life of its pupils and the biggest school dance of the year, the "Prom Ball", finishes at 5 a.m. with bacon and eggs at a local club. The next week Canon J. Aubrey showed us slides which he had taken on holiday in the Transkei. The African, robed in his red blanket looked very colourful, but we were sad to hear that the red blanket was the dress of a heathen.

I think this year's great success is due to Mrs. Hampson's work and organisation and on behalf of the society, I thank her very much. Unfortunately we have to say good-bye to Miss Mulliner and Miss McLean. Miss Mulliner was the head of the committee for twelve years until the end of 1960 and organised entertaining and interesting projects for the Society during that time. To Miss McLean we owe a big thank you—for being our chairman for so many years and always being co-operative and helpful. Our guest speakers were sure of a courteous reception and a welcome cup of tea in Miss McLean's dining-room when a few girls were privileged to meet them more intimately. An informal party was held at the end of the year at which we gave a small token of our appreciation to both Miss McLean and Miss Mulliner.

In conclusion, I wish the Society good luck and success in the future.

ANNE HACKING, Upper V.

SCOTTISH DANCING

Throughout the year Miss Bosomworth has very kindly continued to teach Scottish dancing to those who were interested. At the beginning of the year only the senior school took part, but in the second term many of the middle school joined which was very nice.

During the Easter week-end Miss Bosomworth entered eight of us in a competition at Maynardville. We were all very excited about it and before we went to Maynardville we went for a last practice at Shona Jackson's house.

Maynardville that day was a wonderful sight with everyone in kilts and white dresses. We watched several other events before we danced. We saw the sword dance and listened to the pipe bands which were extremely good. We were placed third in our group and we all thoroughly enjoyed it.

Towards the middle of August, Miss Bosomworth took a party from the middle school to a Children's Scottish Dancing party which was held in the Sacs Preparatory School Hall where they put all their dances into practice and spent a very enjoyable evening.

I should like to thank Miss Bosomworth very much for all she has done for us and wish her every happiness in the future.

A. NOAKES, Lower V.

OUR LAST SCHOOL DAY

We awoke that morning with a feeling of anticipation, knowing that it would be a day always to be remembered—our last real school day! We still had Matric to write, but now there were to be no more lessons, no more homework. That gave us a contented feeling, and we managed to push the thought of the examination into the back of our minds.

We wore ordinary clothes much to the interest of the rest of the school. One little girl in the kindergarten asked, with round eyes, where all the new teachers had come from!

The Upper V boarders had breakfast with Miss McLean, and the rest of the morning we spent listening to amusing reminiscences by teachers and chatting among ourselves. Some of us went up to The Hill where we were shown round the new boarding house. Throughout the day there was much clicking of cameras as we tried to get permanent reminders of each other.

The highlight of the day was when we, as guests of Miss McLean, sat down to a delicious lunch prepared by Mrs. Sachs and her Domestic Science pupils. They gave us what we thought was crayfish cocktail but it turned out to be another of Mrs. Sachs' ingenious recipes made of stockfish!

The afternoon was spent having the annual team and form photographs taken. Afterwards we entertained the staff to tea on the lawn. This was very pleasant for us, and, I hope for them, because there are so many teachers and others concerned with the running of the school that we practically never meet.

Exhausted we went to bed that night knowing that although one phase of our life was over another more important phase is just ahead where greater work will be required of us. No more minor school competitions and team work, but competition and co-operation with other people and other countries all over the world.

N. CLOETE, Upper V.

GAMES NOTES

The interest shown by the girls last year in their various activities has, to a great extent, been maintained.

The swimming this year has retained its high level so that we held our own at all galas. We have appreciated Mr. Grün's excellent coaching of the diving which made it very difficult to choose a team as there were so many girls who had reached the same good level.

The tennis in the Under 14 and Under 15 age groups progressed well. The standard of all the groups shows a very marked improvement which is largely due to Mr. Hosba's untiring efforts to raise the standard of play. With the advent of tennis walls at the Preparatory and Senior Schools we should now see a rapid rise in play among the non-team players.

The winter season saw the introduction of an arranged fixture list for both hockey and netball matches. This meant that every school played every other school in both games. The hockey started shakily and many changes were made in the teams before a final XI could be selected for the Inter-Schools. The Under 15 team worked hard throughout the season and maintained a high standard but on the whole the senior team was disappointing.

The season's netball results were satisfactory although the Inter-School results were very disappointing. The new netball rules gave an added interest to the game. New tactics had to be worked out and the game became much faster as the implications of the new type of play became more obvious.

Squash continues to be a popular extra activity and Mrs. Allday reports that good progress has been made by the majority of the squash club members.

Cricket seems to be losing its enthusiasts which is disappointing for we do not attempt to turn out women cricketers but only to give them a thorough knowledge of the game so that they can watch a cricket match with understanding.

In conclusion I would like to pay tribute to Miss McLean for her stimulating interest in all the school's sporting activities. It is due largely to her unflagging efforts that we finally have the tennis walls, so kindly given by parents and through the second-hand shop by the committee. Also Miss McLean's great interest in the swimming and hockey has encouraged our girls to do their best at all times. Her sympathy when we have lost matches (very conclusively lost in some cases), and her attitude that it is the enjoyment of the game that counts and not the result have been an inspiration to the School. We would like to wish her a very happy future in whatever sphere of work she chooses and to assure her that we shall never forget the interest and enthusiasm she inspired on the games field.

GYMNASTICS

For the past year we have all been experimenting with Modern Gymnastics and on a very few occasions with Modern Dance. The experiment, I feel, has been fully justified. It is a quite erroneous idea that every girl or boy has a flair for games or gymnastics. In fact, it is very few who are gifted. In modern gymnastics the student is given a theme to work on and must develop it according to her ideas, but, always answering the problem set, in her movements. This means that the student works within her own capabilities, but, at the same time, she will find that gradually she is gaining more confidence in herself. This work is also good training for the memory, as sequences must be worked out and remembered so that they may be repeated and flow smoothly from one effort to the next. Students are never told to do certain movements as in the old days when we were regimented in our work and forced on to apparatus that terrified some timid souls out of their wits. They are, for example, encouraged to attempt flight over apparatus, and they do achieve it, with some amazing results. I am most enthusiastic over this modern gymnastics, but I do feel that law and order must be maintained in the gymnasium, and the class must not be allowed to rule.

The girl it helps most is the one who is not a good gymnast, but who likes gym and realises that, with this freedom of movement, she can select her best efforts and they will compare favourably with the more flashy efforts of her more talented companions.

This all lends to build up more self-reliance and self-confidence in the girls' attitude to life, as they learn that they can rely on their own individual efforts without any outside assistance.

CRICKET

Cricket this year was of a disappointing standard due to lack of enthusiasm from most players. This is unfortunate for some of the juniors are keen and show promise. The batting showed improvement but girls are still frightened of the ball.

During the first term we played an Old Girls' team and the second Rustenburg team. The result against the Old Girls was a draw after a most entertaining match. We won the match against Rustenburg and everyone enjoyed it. The Inter-House matches were won by Rolt. No matches were played in the fourth term.

Anne and I would like to thank Mrs. Allday for all her help and encouragement given us during the season and we wish next year's teams the best of luck.

FENCING

During the second and third terms of the year we were fortunate in having Professor Jackson, who is a professor of fencing at the University of Cape Town, to come and teach us fencing. There were four of us and we were all beginners, but Professor Jackson was very patient with us and we progressed slowly. Unfortunately Christine Hawson who was taking fencing had to give it up owing to a back injury.

Towards the end of the third term Professor Jackson thought that we were sufficiently good to fence against St. Cyprian's so he arranged a bout for us. This was held in the school hall and Miss McLean and Miss Wesemann came to watch us. It was a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon for all of us and ended in a draw, four bouts all.

I hope that there will be many more who will take fencing in future and I should like to thank Professor Jackson for a very enjoyable six months of fencing.

Those who took fencing: C. Hawson, A. Noakes, A. Landsberg, R. Summers.

A. NOAKES, Lower V.

HOCKEY

The hockey this year was of an average standard. Throughout the season the team was changed and the final team for the Inter-Schools contained a few Under 15 players all of whom acquitted themselves well. The forwards were rather slow on to the ball in the circle but the backs and halves all played well.

In the Inter-Schools, we drew with Observatory, lost to Wynberg and beat Good Hope, and in all came third in our section. Rustenburg won the final.

The house matches showed great rivalry and were all well attended. After a most exciting series, Jagger won the cup.

Our thanks go to Mrs. Louw who patiently coached and encouraged us throughout the season and who was not discouraged by our results.

Finally, Lesley and I would like to wish you everything of the best for the future.

NETBALL

Netball this year has shown marked all round improvement. Play was very keen, with many pleasing results, although we did not manage to distinguish ourselves in the Inter-Schools.

In the Senior Inter-Schools Herschel came third in their senior section and second in their Under 15 section. Rustenburg won the finals. These results were disappointing, although they were not due to lack of enthusiasm. If the teams would concentrate on greater team-work I am sure they will do better in future. In the Junior Inter-Schools Herschel tried hard but were unlucky in their results.

In the Inter-House matches all teams played very well and provided a very exciting afternoon. Jagger won with four points, Merriman was second with two points, while Rolt was third. We hope the keen competition in Inter-House matches will lead to even better netball next year.

The Under 13 team needs more concentration on team-work and controlling their passes. The Under 14s played well but did not win their matches as often as they should have. The Under 15s were very keen and played extremely well all year. The shooting in the senior teams often left much to be desired.

Anne and I hope that the enthusiasm for netball will remain as keen as it was this year, and that all teams have the best of luck in the future. We would also like to thank Mrs. Louw and Miss Wetton for all the help they have given us.

SWIMMING

The swimming has been of a good standard this year and we have been successful in our galas throughout the season.

Great enthusiasm was shown at the Inter-House Swimming Gala which was won by Rolt with Jagger as a close second and Merriman third. I would like to thank Mrs. Drummond who judged the diving which was won by Rolt.

The Inter-Schools Gala was held at Rustenburg in the first term. The juniors did very well in their section and once again won the Hunwick cup. The seniors showed improvement but their opposition proved too strong. It is obvious that more training and regular exercise is necessary.

The Inter-Schools Diving was held at our baths and we won both the senior and Under 15 sections.

We were very fortunate to have Miss Wetton to coach our teams and I would like to thank her and Mrs. Louw for the interest they have shown in our swimming and the encouragement they have given us. Our thanks are also extended to Mr. Grünh who coached the divers and gave much helpful advice.

Deldre and I wish all the teams the best of luck for next year and we hope this year's standards will be maintained.

SQUASH

This year the Squash Club has had more members than ever before. Although it has limited each player's practice the keenness and interest in the game were sufficient compensation. Play was of a good standard but could have been improved by quicker movement and more careful placing. Players should learn to cover the whole court and to vary their shots.

The squash team won its two matches. In the first game against the Old Girls we won 4-2; and in the second 6-0. The matches were most enjoyable and interesting to watch.

The Inter-House Squash Cup was won by Merriman—nine games to nil. The games were very even and all players played with great determination.

On behalf of the squash team I would like to thank Mrs. Allday for her coaching and encouragement during the year. As Miss McLean is leaving Herschel next year, on behalf of the squash players—past and present, I would thank her for founding the club and giving us all so many hours of enjoyment. The squash team wishes the club a very happy and successful future.

TENNIS

The tennis this year has been of a generally good standard. The teams are enthusiastic and keen, especially the Under 15 and 14 teams which have shown a marked improvement. The first match of the year was played against Rustenburg and Star of the Sea. The senior team was unsuccessful but the junior teams managed to draw against Rustenburg. We were lucky in securing an all-round victory against Star of the Sea. The second match against Observatory was once again a victory for Herschel except for the Under 15 team.

"Old Girls" Day was great fun and as always the afternoon was spent competing in friendly cricket and tennis matches. In the latter the competition was keen and after a long battle the school lost 6 games to 3.

The Junior Inter-Schools was looked forward to with much apprehensive excitement and the day preceded by much hard practice. We managed to come third with ten points. Rustenburg and Eilersie drew for first place with fourteen points. The Senior Inter-Schools took place the following Saturday. In the senior team the "A" couple won one match while the "B" couple reached the semi-finals. The over-all result was a win to Rustenburg. The morning was a great success and proved exciting for both players and spectators alike. The Senior Inter-Schools terminated our tennis fixtures for the first term.

This term we have played two matches—one against Observatory and the other against Loreto Convent. The result of both was a win to Herschel and we hope that the remaining matches this term will be equally successful.

Both Tuvish and I wish the future teams all success for next year, and we would like to thank Mrs. Louw for her unfailing help and support during this past year.

OLD HERSCHELIANS' ASSOCIATION

MINUTES OF THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING HELD ON SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18th, 1961, IN THE LIBRARY AT HERSCHEL SCHOOL

1. PRESENT:

Miss McLean (in the chair), M. Fischer, R. Withiel, E. Robb, A. Stewart, D. McGaffan, P. Rogers, R. Dowie-Dunn, A. Kipps, J. Corder, J. Haslem, A. Gilmour, F. Waring, D. Mills, W. Hofmeyr, L. Nicolls, S. Norgarb, C. Schonfelt, M. Reilly, L. Sumner, P. Dicker, M. Woolford, S. Barron, T. Corder, L. Harris, H. Kelley, A. Porter, J. van Winsen, A. Williams, F. Noble, P. Ferguson, L. Wares, B. Brimble, H. Simpson, Mrs. Allday, Miss Harsant, Miss Harwood, Mrs. Pierce Jones, Mrs. Poppensmith, Mrs. Louw, Miss Johnston, Miss Mulliner.

2. MINUTES:

The Secretary read the minutes of the 34th Annual General Meeting and they were accepted as correct.

3. SECRETARY'S REPORT:

Since the Annual General Meeting early in the previous year, two squash matches and one hockey match were arranged between the School and the Old Girls. All these matches were hard fought, the School winning the hockey and the Old Girls, the Squash. Anne Stewart's offer to continue as sports officer was gratefully accepted by the committee.

It was with regret that the committee learnt that some of its members had tendered their resignations. The position of Circle V secretary fell vacant through the resignation of J. van Winsen. The vacancy was filled by T. Corder on the nomination of M. Fischer, C. Norgarb resigned from the secretaryship of Circles O and P and J. Forsyth (Haslem) nominated Y. Roux (Dowdle) to succeed her. J. Pollard (Steyn) was nominated by Miss Harsant as treasurer on the resignation of R. Withiel and it was proposed that M. Garlick (Boyes) should be approached in connection with the duties of Circles D and E.

P. Douglas' proposal at the last meeting to reinvest £100 in the Credit Corporation had been put into effect. It was agreed that Miss Mulliner should be responsible for choosing the books for the Steyn Memorial Shelf to be bought with the money donated by the Old Girls. M. Fischer agreed to convey the thanks of the association to the auditor, Mr. Tarr, for his aid.

It was suggested that a dance organised on the lines of the last Old Diocesan, Old St. Cyprian's and Old Herschelian Dance be convened during the Easter vacation. M. Fischer was asked to contact Mr. Owen-Smith to discover whether this was feasible.

After 38 years of dedicated and unflinching service to the school, Joel, who will be remembered by all Old Herschelians, retired in March. The association decided at the last meeting to show their respect and gratitude to him by way of a photograph of the school and a monetary gift. A circular to this effect calling for donations was distributed.

The committee observed a minute's silence in memory of Miss Taylor, a founder teacher of the school, who passed away early in 1961.

The meeting closed at approximately 3 p.m. with a vote of thanks to Miss McLean for her hospitality to the Old Girls.

Most Old Girls will have heard that Miss McLean is retiring, having been Headmistress of Herschel for the past fourteen years.

The Old Herschelian's Association owes her a very great debt of gratitude for it was in 1947 that Miss McLean pressed for a more active Old Girls' Association, feeling that so much of the strength of a school lay with its former pupils. Due to her encouragement we took on a more active form of life and reorganized ourselves into circles, with the intention of thus being able to keep in touch with the girls of different age groups. Miss McLean's kindness in being hostess to us at lunch and tea on Old Girls' Day each year has been very much appreciated as well as the warm welcome she has extended to any Old Girls visiting the school, sometimes after an absence of many years.

We thank Miss McLean most sincerely for all she has done for us and our best wishes will go with her when she sails for England in April.

The older Old Girls will learn with regret that Miss Stafford, the first Matron of Herschel, died in Cornwall in July. She had been in poor health for a long time and the latter years of her life had often been very lonely. There must be many, now with children of their own, who will remember how they were "mothered" by Miss Stafford when, as very small girls, and often from great distances, they arrived to face their first term at boarding school. By all who knew her she will always be held in affection. Mrs. Martin, Orcilla Lasch and Mary Fiddian-Green kept in touch with her constantly and so she never lost contact with Herschel. A short obituary notice appears elsewhere in the magazine.

Mary Fiddian-Green (Baxter) has been staying in the Cape this year as her son, Richard, is at the University studying Engineering. Mary and her husband are hoping to revisit Kenya early in 1962 as they still have many friends there. Orcilla Lasch (Martin) is now a grannie. Her eldest daughter, Katherine, has a small girl. Orcilla has been in Paris visiting them.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Molly Sellars and Felicity Todd in their double loss. Mrs. Thorne passed away in October and nine days later their younger brother, Denis, died very suddenly. Mrs. Thorne was closely associated with Herschel in the early days, being a member of the Council for some years. Her great kindness and hospitality, first at "Dunlee", Rondebosch, and then at "The Two Silvers" on Wynberg Hill, will long be remembered by many Old Herschelians. Molly and Felicity, who have both been staying in Cape Town, returned to England at the end of November. Molly's daughter, Caroline Sellars, has two children and lives in Scotland, and her son Michael, who is in the Royal Navy, is now stationed in Hongkong.

The Jooste family have done so much for Herschel and it was with deep regret that we heard of Mrs. Jooste's death earlier in the year. Our sympathy also goes out to Lynette Croude and Adele Fouche. Adele and her husband have recently bought a house in Lovers Walk, Kenilworth, and so are living near Mr. Jooste and the other members of the family.

Sheila Caldwell (McIntyre) wrote to tell us that she and her husband have left Teheran for good, much to their sorrow for they loved the life there, and are bound for Kampala, Uganda, after spending a holiday in Britain. Sheila's daughter Barbara Nel is coming out on a visit to her grandmother at Constantia and will then join her mother in Kampala later on and take up a secretarial post, for which she is now qualified.

Joan McEwan (Hill) has left her house in Haslemere, Surrey, and is living at the Duchess of Kent Barracks, Portsmouth, where her husband is Commander. Peg Furlonge is now in Germany and her three eldest children are at boarding school in England. Peg is thinking of coming to the Cape with her youngest child in February. She hasn't been here since 1949.

In September Pam Fullerton (Jeans) married Commander Brian Edwards and they have settled in Johannesburg. Our congratulations go to Beatrice Elliot (McLachlan) who has recently been appointed Captain of the Worcestershire Ladies' County Golf Association.

It was with great regret that many learnt that the Hon. H. G. Lawrence was not returned as a member of the House of Assembly in the October General Election. Standing as a Progressive in his old constituency of Salt River, which he and his wife Jean (Searle) they have served so unselfishly and so well for thirty-two years, he was defeated by the United Party candidate.

Molly Robinson's (Patterson) second daughter, Victoria, was married last July and her eldest son, Nicholas, is now managing the firm of E. S. and A. Robinson. Her youngest son, Mark, left recently to study at Harrow. Molly is blessed with two grandchildren; the two sons of her eldest daughter Diana.

Betty's two daughters are both in England. Helen is married and has two children, a son and a daughter, and Mary has an interesting job with the firm of Thomas Watson and will soon be the secretary to the Television producer.

Pauline Vogelpoel is the organising secretary of the 51-year-old Contemporary Arts Society in London. This year she was in America arranging an artistic feast for 129 of the society's members. She was responsible for organising a tour of the leading galleries and museums. The highlight of the members' trip was a visit to the Barnes Foundation in Marion, Pennsylvania, which has recently opened and has in its £35 million collection, 200 Renoirs and Cezannes and one of the finest collections of Matisse's works in the world.

Ray Hubner flew to Europe on holiday this year.

Audrey Payne (Taylor) and Jean Gant (Baxter) have also been overseas. Jean and her husband visited South America and Audrey and her husband toured Britain and saw something of Joan Rylands (Payne) who has moved to Weyhill, near Andover, in Hampshire.

Glendyr Orr (Packer) has settled in Australia with her husband, an ear, nose and throat specialist and her two sons. The Packers have a home in Perth very near the river. Despite having to do all her own chores Glendyr still finds time to sail, swim and play tennis almost every day.

Rosemary Wilks (Sturgess) leaves Cape Town in January to join her husband in Aden. After a few months they will leave for a two years spell in England. Rosemary is taking her two young sons with her as they have been lucky enough to obtain an air conditioned house for the duration of their stay in Aden.

Anne Palmer (Impey) is holidaying at the Cape this Christmas with her husband and two children before they are transferred to Salisbury.

Mary de Villiers (Loggie) is at present living at Sesheke, north of the Victoria Falls. She is on a small station of some eight families and is very isolated because there is no access by road. Consequently her jaunts into Livingstone have to be made either by air or barge.

Sheila Duncan (Greenwood) has just been visited at her home in Fordingbridge by her parents who went to see their grandson Hamilton and new granddaughter Fiona.

Fay Osborne (Croxtan) came out from her home in Petersham with two of her three sons to stay with her sister, Denys, early in '61 and with her twin, Chloe, made contact with many old friends.

Ruth Wickiel spent three weeks of June holidaying in England. At Paddington station she met Mary Jane Harris who was there to meet her mother. Ruth stayed with the Mitchells in Kent. Ellen Mitchell works in London and goes home at week-ends to escape the hustle and bustle of the city. Her sister Margaret returned to England in July with her husband and two children but hopes to be back in a few years time. Ruth also saw Pauline Haws (Holtwhite) who has moved into a new house in Chislehurst and is very busy redecorating. Sonia Hollebosc was there giving a hand. Sonia is working for an American firm of publishers. Their offices are situated in one of London's old homes and she finds the atmosphere there most unlike other offices.

Auricol Jackson (Hollebons) who was married earlier this year is living quite near Sonia and enjoys experimenting in the kitchen.

Jennifer Forsyth (Haslem) has moved from Longkloof Farm in Hout Bay to Hogsback where she and her husband are working at a special school in the Amatadas Mountains. Jenny has a baby girl of six months and consequently moving has not been easy.

Gillian Glennie (Lorrimer), living in Johannesburg with her husband and small daughter Penny, is expecting a second baby. Also expecting a baby is Gillian Gurney (Williams). Gill and her husband are living in a small but cosy flat in Toronto and enjoyed a holiday to the Lakes early this year.

Elspeth Grant (Ivey) has a one-year-old son. She and her husband Dick have rented a furnished house on the outskirts of Edinburgh. Dick is working at the Royal Infirmary.

Christine Stobi (Hurst), her husband and daughter Josephine are living in London.

Rosemary Roberts (Faber) was married in July. The Fabers spent their honeymoon in Uganda and Tanganyika and are now on a gumtree estate 60 miles from Salisbury farming maize and beef cattle. Dracula Edmonds (Perry), also on a farm near Salisbury, has taken a temporary job in the town.

Barbara Sandell, working as an air hostess for an Australian airline, recently announced her engagement to Don Brown of Brisbane, Australia.

Lynette Holmes (Ractliffe), who announced her engagement not so long ago, was married mid-January, 1962. Her parents-in-law flew down from Johannesburg for the wedding which coincided with her sister's (Elizabeth) 21st birthday.

Virginia Thompson returned to South Africa early in the year. She is now working for a leading advertising firm in Cape Town.

Revel Reidy returned at the end of November after far too long an absence and is pleased to be home. Wendy Hartford (Hofmeyr), Grace Garcia (Smith) Anita Lockwood (Gilmour) and Gail Meglaughlin (Roland) are all expecting their second babies in the new year.

Diana Versveld and husband Dick Reed came to the Cape for the christening of their son in March and they have added Chinchillas to their other farming interests.

Diana Townsend has been doing an extended tour of the U.S.A. Susan Sly is still kept very busy at Governor's Lodge where she is secretary to her aunt. Betty Rudland is expecting a baby in November and later intends to settle in Nyasaland.

Elaine Skea (Curtiss) writes from Salisbury to say she often sees Vivienne Day, Louise Barron, Erica Thurburn, Erica Eriksford (Telfa) and Susan and Diana Marshall. Diana is working for Anglo-American and is planning a trip overseas in the near future.

Nicolette Babbie is going to England in December with her brother, who starts at Harrow in the new year.

Pam Jones, who is working in Johannesburg, spent her new year holidays at Hermanus.

Grania Murray has an intensely interesting job working for the Capricorn Society, a charity concern whose main aim is education. The head offices are in Central Africa and consequently, as Grania describes it, "things are pretty exciting".

Rosemary Jenkins returned from England early in 1961 and is now window-dressing in a Wynberg departmental store.

Amelia Cronwright, still in England, recently announced her engagement to David Brown and is planning her wedding for the English summer.

Anne Faed (T'Ons) who completed her course in B.A. Fine Arts at the Natal University was married in April, 1961. Her husband is the Pasture Research Officer for Swaziland and they are living at, as Anne describes it, "a very pleasant" research station. She works at a garage as an accountant as no teaching job is available, but is planning a three months' holiday overseas starting in April.

Sybil Norgarb, who has been teaching at Herschel and leading a very active and busy life, left for England early in December. Jean Douie Dunn and Julia Rhodes are also in England.

Josie Lombardi (Du Toit), living on a beautiful apple farm in Elgin, had a son in August.

Jean Ratcliffe went overseas in the early part of the year and shortly after her return announced her engagement to André Raubenheimer.

Circle "V" is gradually scattering around the globe. Amongst those who have returned to Cape Town are Rosemary Hollingdale, now a qualified physiotherapist working at Groote Schuur Hospital; Margaret Diamond, who hitch-hiked across Europe, took part-time jobs to make ends meet and now works for a leading commercial art firm in town; Jennifer Robertson, entering her fifth year Architecture at the Cape Town University, enjoyed practical study in London as well as a Continental tour; and Jane Nelson who, after four years in London, returned to the Cape but has subsequently moved to Salisbury where she shares a flat with Juliet Windham. Jane was a bridesmaid at Joan Brelsford's (Banks) wedding.

Juliet van Winaen is working at the London Hospital as a physiotherapist and is planning a holiday on the Continent before leaving for America. Colleen Fowles, also in London, finds running a flat after a full day's work tiring, but nevertheless plenty of fun. Belinda Maister finished her technician's course at Groote Schuur Hospital and in January, 1962, plans an East Coast trip to England where she will study shorthand and typing in London.

Maryvonne Borden (Gio), Carol Papworth (Shonfelt), Barbara Grenfell (Ratcliffe), Birte Mueller (Du Toit Vos), Tessa Corder (De la Harpe), Valerie Lord (Speedy) and Linda Thornton White (Dysel) are all happily married and living in the suburbs. Carol, Barbara, Birte and Tessa are all expecting babies. Linda is continuing with her fashion designing in a private capacity.

Janet Simpson and Josephine Fischer are working in Cape Town. Janet has a secretarial post while Josephine is a librarian in the Provincial Library Offices. She plans to go overseas in February.

Felicity Shuk has been working in Cape Town this year and has recently gone overseas to London with her sister, Stephanie Hoppen, for a six weeks' holiday.

Heather Melrose returned to South Africa in November after attending a domestic science course at the Edinburgh University, working several months in Oxford as well as touring the Continent. She now hopes to get a teaching job in Cape Town.

Caroline Syfret returned on the same boat as Heather. She was in London for eighteen months, where she worked for an architectural firm. In London Caroline shared a flat with Elizabeth Welsh who is working for a firm of wine merchants. She hopes to return home at the end of 1962.

Tania Kramer, also in London, completed her nursery school teacher's training before leaving South Africa. She has worked for several families in the capacity of nursemaid-cum-governess and is momentarily stationed in Strasbourg. It is probable Tania will return early next year.

Susan McGregor also returned home in November. She had an extremely interesting job with the B.B.C. in London and is now looking for a post in Cape Town. While overseas Susan saw a great deal of Caroline, Elizabeth and Naomi Groves, who was attending Mrs. Hooper's Secretarial College.

Christa Behnen has been in Munich for the past two years. She has a "lovely" job and has found the knowledge of four languages more than useful.

Heather McLeod was married to Jeremy Coulter, R.M., in the English spring. They are living in Deal, Kent, but Jeremy is being transferred to Singapore early in 1962. Heather hopes to follow her husband at the first possible opportunity.

Rosemary Robb and Judy Corder, also in London, share a flat with four other South African girls. Rosemary having completed her secretarial studies is anxious to get a teaching position, while Judy, who only arrived in September, is comfortably settled on the staff of a London magazine.

Barbara Wiltshire (Beck) was married in July and is living comfortably in Clifton. She is very friendly with Jane Jeffrey, who has an interesting job with a Cape Town travel agency.

Margaret Barron attained her Higher Primary Teacher's Diploma at the University of Cape Town this year. She returned home to Rhodesia for Christmas and is hoping to get a temporary teaching job for a year, at the end of which she plans an overseas trip.

Anne Kipps graduated with a degree in Social Science this year and is now working for a welfare agency in Cape Town.

Deborah Kipps, who is due to finish her nursing course next year, hopes to go overseas for further study. Another nurse who qualified this year is Andrey Williams. She is now working for the blood transfusion in town.

Felicity Gill has a fascinating job in London working in the House of Commons and the House of Lords. She seems to thoroughly enjoy her work.

Suzanne Elliott, Elizabeth Holmes, Heather Marr and Iona Mathias are continuing their studies at the University of Cape Town towards B.A. and Social Science degrees. Iona has taken a small cottage in Rondebosch with two other students while her parents holiday in Europe. Elizabeth Roberts completed her B.A. course and graduated this year while Marguerite Fischer, who has thoroughly enjoyed her three years at the Michaelis School of Fine Art, attained a diploma in Commercial Art.

Back in Cape Town with a B.A. degree, Sally Pysott intends taking an intensive course in shorthand and typing before leaving for England in April. With the completion of her Domestic Science course at Stellenbosch University Kathleen Norris intends studying for a teaching diploma and hopes to put her training into practice next year in England. Also planning a trip overseas is José Finch, who is at present working for a travel agency in the city.

Felicity Waring's success in the golfing world has not gone without mention in our national newspapers. Felicity announced her engagement to Andrius Wassenaar but no plans have as yet been revealed for the wedding date.

Gail Lockwood has discontinued her University studies and is now doing shorthand, typing and bookkeeping.

Alison Kenny, who was in Cape Town for a month's holiday in November, has been working as a private secretary to the Editor of the "Financial Times" and finds her work varied and interesting. She has joined the aviation club and now flies as a hobby.

Also in Johannesburg, Valerie de Klerk has been working as a part-time fashion model and saw Alison as well as Caroline Vos before coming down to spend Christmas with her family.

Frances Small returned to South Africa in July for a short visit of five weeks which has lasted more than five months. Frances has been doing secretarial work for a leading financial house in Cape Town and returns to England for the spring.

After announcing her engagement to Michael de Malpas-Finlay, R.N., Nicola Sutton sailed for England where she intends taking up permanent residence. Another Old Herschelian who has recently left for England is Elizabeth Hennessey who is continuing her shorthand-typing studies before taking up employment in London. Nichola Murray, Caroline Simonds and Phoebe Scrivenor are all in London. Caroline is pursuing a successful career in television and Phoebe is engaged to be married.

Fifteen members of Circle "Y" are still at the University of Cape Town at various stages of their courses.

Rosa Dowie-Dunn and Diana McGaffin are both entering their final year of Physiotherapy. Valerie van der Byl, Anne Smith and Elizabeth Robertson are at the Michaelis School of Fine Art. Both Valerie and Elizabeth have done extremely well in their examinations. Although only in her first year at the Michaelis, it is Elizabeth's second year at an art school. She enjoyed twelve months at St. Michael's, in England.

Brenda-Lynne Tyers and Carol Miller are doing Higher Primary courses and Anne Stewart, who is entering her final year of Social Science, again played for the University hockey team and is also on the Sports Committee.

Pippa Rogers and Elizabeth Robb have reached their final year B.A. and Philipa McGregor, Stephanie Hussen and Anne Porter are doing courses in B.A. and Drama. Shirley Marx is studying at the College of Music. She finds her work most stimulating and enjoyable and is planning a trip to England when she has attained her diploma. Lorna Harris, who is now in her third year Architecture, represented the University at the Swimming Intervarsity held at Stellenbosch. Ingrid van Winsen, still the only Old Herschelian at Stellenbosch University, is nevertheless managing very well.

Sheena Hollingdale is at St. Andrew's reading for M.A. Languages.

Jennifer Dacey is at Barkley House studying nursing school teaching while Paddy Mason, who has completed her teacher's training, is working at a local school.

Pat Goble is studying Art at the Technical College, Cape Town.

Barbara Nel, who will pay a short visit to Cape Town on her way to Uganda early in 1962, took a secretarial course in London with Elizabeth Plumbly who is now working overseas. Jenny Baker, Heather Kelly and Janina Nitolasweska also completed secretarial courses in Grahamstown, Cape Town and Switzerland respectively. Janina spent Christmas with her parents in Newlands but is returning to Switzerland to work.

Judy Norton, after studying in Paris and touring Europe on a scooter, returned to South Africa and has joined the permanent staff of "The Star".

Anne Rough and Rosemary Hellings, Herschel's first two American field scholars, returned to South Africa in August with most favourable reports and strong recommendations to others. Both Anne and Rosemary are taking a course in shorthand and typing.

Sally Baxter, Leslie Wares, Hilary Simpson and Fiona Noble discontinued their studies—Social Science, Bachelor of Arts and Music respectively—at the University of Cape Town. Sally, Hilary and Fiona left for America on Scholarships and Lesley left for Edinburgh where she is doing Physiotherapy.

Veronica Culley, Pamela Ferguson and Lynne Parker are studying for B.A. degrees, while Jennifer Brimble and Bridget Buchanan-Lee are doing Social Science. All hope to complete their courses next year.

Lindsay Lomas-Walker finds her nursing career both interesting and rewarding. Pat Hill is taking a teaching course at Training College in Mowbray.

Carol Simpson and Mary-Anne Graaf completed a course in shorthand and typing and Mary-Anne recently started work with a firm in Cape Town.

Sally Stuttaford, who has been at a domestic science school in London, made an extensive tour of Europe during the course of the year and is returning to Cape Town in January.

Louisa McDonald, one of our few old girls at Stellenbosch University, is studying Physical Culture.
